Framed Poster from CeCe Winans Performance, Autographed by the Performer

From the 2006-2007 Carson Series

Photograph by Gene Boaz

Framed photo, Female Summer Tanager and Goldfinch, taken by the late Gene Boaz, a professional photographer. This photo is the Grand Prize, Best of Show, Roger Tory Peterson Institute of Natural History, 1993. Mr. Boaz credited his connection of 2 birds not ordinarily seen together partly to planning and luck. He cut thistle and set it near his bird feeder, expecting to photograph goldfinches. Amazingly, a female summer tanager flew into view just as Mr. Boaz focused on the goldfinch. As the goldfinch is a seed eater and the tanager is a meat eater, this photograph is highly unusual.

Silver Oak Alexander Valley Cabernet Sauvignon 1997

The 1997 Cabernet Sauvignon Alexander Valley exhibits a saturated ruby/purple color, with density in the aromas and flavors. Exotic with notes of tobacco, Provençal olives, jammy red and black fruits, and copious quantities of smoky, toasty oak, it possesses structure and tannin, but is a typically exotic, flamboyant, in-your-face Cabernet. Alexander Valley cuvees are 100% Cabernet Sauvignon. (Robert Parker rating of 89)

Chateau Montelena 2003 Chardonnay, Napa, Magnum

Montelena's Chardonnays have always been non-malolactic, elegant, steely efforts with good acidity and, in some vintages, a remarkable aging potential of 15-20 years. The 2003 Chardonnay boasts a rich lemon custard-like nose with hints of green apples, white currants, pears, and peaches. The wine is vibrant, full-bodied, and surprisingly rich with a vivaciousness and zesty acidity that provide a laser-like precision and freshness. It should drink well for 7-8 years, possibly longer. (Robert Parker rating of 92)

Flora Springs 1996 Trilogy, Magnum

The 1996 Trilogy, a blend of 44% Cabernet Sauvignon, 40% Merlot, and 16% Cabernet Franc, reveals a saturated dark ruby/purple color, and a gorgeous nose of violets, black currants, pain grille, and minerals. Deep and rich, yet remarkably polished, this medium to full-bodied, beautifully symmetrical wine has everything in the proper place. Although accessible enough to be enjoyed early in life, its balance suggests a graceful evolution for 15-20 years. It is a distinctive, beautiful wine. All the recent vintages of this wine have been stunning. The turn-around in quality began in the early nineties, and continues unabated. (Robert Parker rating of 91)

Meridian 1995 Cabernet 3 Liter Bottle

Pleasant, soft-textured and ripe, showing herb, anise, and cherry flavors. Smooth and flavorful finish. (Wine Spectator rating of 84)

Concha y Toro Vertical Wines

2001 Concha y Toro Puenta Alto Don Melchor Cabernet Sauvignon (Chile): The 2001 Cabernet remains youthful. It has a spicy pain grille accented nose with plenty of mineral, cassis, and black currant making their presence known. The wine is medium to full-bodied in an elegant St. Julien style. This layered, lengthy effort will continue to develop for another 6-8 years and drink well through 2027. (Wine Advocate rating of 93)

2003 Concha y Toro Puenta Alto Don Melchor Cabernet Sauvignon (Chile): The 2003 Cabernet Sauvignon has a spicy perfume of toasty oak, black currants, and blackberry liqueur. It has lots of extraction in its layered, structured personality and should evolve for another 6-8 years. (Wine Advocate rating of 93)

2004 Concha y Toro Alto Don Melchor Cabernet Sauvignon (Chile), the 2004 Cabernet Sauvignon is opaque purple in color. The nose delivers a splendid array of pain grille, smoke, pencil lead, espresso, and black currants. It makes a youthful entry on the palate with layers of black fruits, mouth-filling flavors, a plush texture, with plenty of ripe tannins to hold this big wine together. The finish is long and pure. The wine demands 8-10 years to show to full advantage and should drink well through 2032. (Wine Advocate rating of 94)

Abacela Wine in Wooden Box

Abacela 2003 Syrah Magnum (1.5 Liter) in wooden box. Aging in predominately neutral small French oak casks preserved the black and blue fruit, truffle, and pepper spice aromatics. The generous palate is filled with blackberry jam, licorice, roasted nuts, and game hints. This wine's well integrated tannin and balanced finish provide for pleasurable consumption now but should improve over the next 4 to 6 years. Abacela Vineyards is owned by Dr. Earl Jones, a native of Western Kentucky. He was the featured winemaker at the 2005 Carson Center Vintner Dinner. The winemaking philosophy at Abacela begins in the vineyard. Their foremost goal is to preserve the fruit character and quality from the vineyard, to the winery, to the bottle, to the consumer. Secondly, they eagerly strive for consistent quality across varietals and vintages with a focus on the future. Third, they make every effort to be consistent in their stylistic goals of creating big, age worthy reds and crisp, refreshing whites. www.abacela.com

Mixed Case of Toad Hollow Wines

Two bottles each of Toad Hollow: 2004 Merlot Reserve; Erik's The Red Paso Robles Proprietary Red Wine; 2006 Cacophony Zinfandel; 2005 Pinot Noir Russian River Valley; 2006 Chardonnay Mendocino County, Francine's Choice; Amplexus Sparkling Wine.

Elegant Wine Service

This Towle Silversmiths 6-piece wine set includes 2 bottles of an excellent Argentinean red wine from J.D. and Linda VanHoose's private cellar: the 2004 Bodega Norton Malbec Luján de Cuyo Reserva earned a 91-point rating from Wine Spectator: "Very creamy, with lush layers of fig, currant, and blackberry followed by coca, mocha, and licorice notes on the showy finish. Fine focus and structure."

A Syrah Sampling

2000 Arrowood Syrah (Sonoma) The 2000 Syrah Sonoma tastes like pure blackberry liqueur, with wonderful ripeness and density, but not a great deal of complexity. What is present is full and opulent. Drink it over the next 7-8 years. (Robert Parker of 90)

2002 Lagier Meredith, Syrah (Mount Veeder, Napa) This poised, elegant Syrah reveals subtle but intense aromas of camphor, blackberries, cassis and earthy forest floor. It builds incrementally, exhibiting good richness, power, purity and integration of wood acidity, alcohol and tannin. An impressively endowed authoritatively flavored, noble expression of Syrah with subtle nuances. It should be consumed over the next 5-7 years. (Robert Parker of 92)

2003 Pride Syrah (Sonoma) The medium full bodied Syrah offers fresh acidity (thanks to the high mountain elevation) as well as abundant blackberry and floral characteristics. Drink this beauty over the next 5-6 years. (Wine Spectator rating of 90)

Beringer Private Reserve Cabernet Sauvignon

Beringer Private Reserve Cabernet Sauvignon 2004. Ed Sbragia and long-time winemaking partner Laurie Hook use a minimalist approach. They use tailored pump-over techniques for optimal extraction, and then aged the wines in hand-selected, custom-toasted barrels of new French Nevers oak from coopers. It is said that the magnum of 2004 Cabernet Sauvignon Private Reserve is fabulous. This wine has a dense purple color, which is accompanied by a rich, sumptuous bouquet of crème de cassis, lead pencil shavings, chocolate, toast, and spice box. In addition, it possesses fabulous fruit, low acidity, a rich, full-bodied mouth feel, and a long, pure finish. It remains one of the most underrated great Cabernet Sauvignons of Napa. (Robert Parker rating of 95)

Original Clay Monotype "Again" by William (Bill) Renzulli, MD

Original art by popular Lowertown artist Bill Renzulli with a poem by Ranier Maria Rilke. From a series of works based on the works of Rilke. Dr. Renzulli has successfully woven art and medicine into the fabric of his life. Upon completion of his medical training in 1971, he established an internal medicine practice in Wilmington, Delaware. In 1981, after nine years of practice, he traded his black bag for a canvas bag, and vigorously pursued a career in art. Until his complete retirement from medicine in 2002, Dr. Renzulli divided his time between medicine and art. www.renzulliart.com

Original Painting by Paulette Mentor

Gaviota Pass 101, 48" x 12" acrylic on canvass by Paulette Mentor. This striking painting with its reds and golds is mesmerizing. Says Lowertown Artist Paulette Mentor: "I have always been fascinated with color—the way it changes in the light, the play between different shades and, most importantly, the way colors evoke emotion. This passion for color has been a driving force in my work. All powerful, the colors in my paintings drive my decisions, setting the tone of each piece and pushing me to reach for that perfect play of light and dark, bold and subtle. The depth of texture in much of my work comes from that effort to draw the viewer into the piece, searching the shadows for color intrigue. My style of painting is described as 'Process Painting.' As I work, I react to what is happening on the canvas. Sometimes bold, sometimes quiet, my work is not so much abstract as it is kinetic. I hope that you, the viewer, take as much pleasure in my work as I have had in creating it." – Paulette Mentor. www.mentorhousegallery.com

Original Painting by Paul Lorenz

Oil on Canvas. 2008 "Cloud with Two Ovals" created through a process of applying and removing paint with no hesitation but continued exploration. Paul Lorenz is an internationally known artist. A true investment piece, this art will continue to increase in value. With an education in Bauhaus architecture and fine art, Mr. Lorenz has carved an interesting niche in the international art world: bridging the principals and emotions of painting with the logic and detail of architecture. The artist approaches painting as a balance of physical structure (wood, canvas, paper); visual structure (brush strokes, scrapes, tears); and color. The structure of color takes on its own life while contained on the painting's surface. Whether thin and spatial, or thick and elemental, the colors are not random, but developed to complement the physical and the visual. With respectful regard to the Abstract Expressionists of the forties and fifties, the artist allows the painting process to remain the final subject. www.paullorenz.biz
